postings will be left in the dark when it comes to the people's business. Moreover, they question the notion of putting government transparency and accountability on such critical issues in government's hands.

Johnson said he understands the concerns, but stressed, "We're not trying to hide anything."

As far as saving taxpayer money, the city, which has a budget of about $45 million, spends $60,000 a year in legal notices published in the Register, the mayor said.

Local Wendel Zeller told this newspaper that there's a bigger price to pay if Measure P passes: Cypress officials might forget who's in charge.

MEASURE P —

Editor's note: Following is the verbatim summary of Measure P that appears on the City of Cypress' website. For full text of Measure P, visit www.cypressca.org.

The City Council put Measure P on the ballot to let voters decide whether or not to update Cypress' City Charter.

MEASURE P:

-Allows the City to publish legal notices and hearings on the City's website rather than in newspapers. This part of the Charter hasn't been updated since 1956 (64 years);

"The people are on top," he said. "The council gets all their power from the people, and not the other

SUMMARY -Increases the number of days to fill a City Council vacancy from 30 to 60 days in accordance with

State law. This part of the Charter hasn't been updated since 1977 (43 years); -Allows the City to respond to changes in California's election laws, including setting election procedures, through the public hearing hasn't been updated since 1977 (43 years). Measure P does not make any changes to term limits in Cypress.

process. This part of the Charter way around."

Johnson and City Manager Peter Grant gave a Zoom presentation to the Cypress Chamber of Commerce and about 30 residents last week, and Johnson's arguments in favor of the measure are posted on the city's website.

A through-line of his case is that the city, which was incorporated in 1956 and hasn't updated its Charter in decades, must address inconsistencies with state law.

"Measure P is an essential amendment to the City Charter that addresses inconsistencies with state law and enables the city to meet our community's modern needs," Johnson said.

Measure P further gives the City Council 60 days to fill vacancies on the council -without holding an election. City Attorney Anthony R. Taylor said that change would save taxpayers up to $220,000 per election, but council candidate Blaze Bhence, in a letter to this newspaper, wrote that "this could lead to more stacking of the council."

Council members Mariellen Yarc, Stacy Berry, Paulo Morales and Jon Peat, who support Measure P, did not respond to email requests for comments.

cil represents the city. Like our national or state constitution, the charter is a living document and needs to evolve with the times and technology. Excluding zoning changes, voters have updated the charter four times since 1956 - most recently in 2004. That's why beginning in early 2019, the City Council launched a comprehensive review of Cypress' nearly 70-year-old city charter that resulted in a unanimous vote to recommend Measure P to our neighbors.

Measure P does three things to improve Cypress' city government:

1. Measure P provides the City 30 extra days to fill a City Council vacancy, potentially saving residents from paying for an expensive special election.

2. Measure P protects our community by aligning Cypress' election procedures with State law.

3. Measure P updates an antiquated requirement to publish legal notices and hearings in newspapers, freeing up resources the City use to improve transparency and communication with residents.

When Cypress became a city in 1956, I suspect every home in town subscribed to at least one newspaper to stay up to date on local news. But in 2020, the reality is most residents don't have a newspaper delivered to their home every morning, and in these challenging economic times a $200 newspaper subscription is one of the first cuts to a family budget.

More importantly, I have never met anyone who reads the dense legal notices the city publishes in the newspaper. Last year the City spent $60,000 on these notices, I encourage voters to find and read a legal notice in the Event News-Enterprise or OC Register and then ask themselves if the publication was a good use of their tax dollars.

Measure P allows the City to reallocate this spending on more effective and less expensive forms of communication including the City's website, social media, email subscription service and Cypress Central, our mobile app. The City of Buena Park made a similar change to its charter a few of years ago and reports positive results.

The most important parts of Measure P address City election procedures that have become inconsistent with State law. The extra 30 days Measure P gives the City to fill a vacancy before having to call a special election could save taxpayers $250,000. Those extra 30 days give the City more time to advertise the vacancy, accept applications from interested residents, schedule interviews, and then select a new Council Member. State law recognizes City Councils need more time to make such an important decision and provides 60 days to fill a vacancy before having to call an election. I don't say this often, but the State law is good one and Cypress should mirror it.

Measure P will also protect the City from paying massive plaintiff's legal fees if we are sued over our election procedures. Many cities around Cypress have recently moved from at-large City Council elections to district elections because of abusive special interest lawsuits. I hope that doesn't happen to Cypress but if it does, Measure P will avoid a costly legal settlement and ensure Cypress residents, rather than the courts, decide how we elect our representatives to the City Council.

I also want to make certain voters know that Measure P does not make any changes to term limits in Cypress. Like Measure P, term limits serve our community well and the City Council supports them.

I know many of you have read the articles in our local newspapers urging you to vote "No" on Measure P, claiming the City is not being transparent and are, somehow trying to mislead you. Please be aware that local newspapers have motives to stop this measure from passing - they survive on income derived from their ads, and they do not want to lose that income. Although I understand their concerns, they should not mislead the public without mentioning their own motives.

For the last eight years, I have had the great honor to serve Cypress as a Council Member and Mayor. I am at the end of my term and have no personal motive for writing this letter, except that I would like my fellow citizens to understand the merits and reasons why I am voting yes on Measure P. I urge you to vote "YES" on Measure P.

get involved. I also support the La Palma Citizen's Academy as an outstanding way for residents to get an in-depth understanding of city government.

I promise to maintain our fiscal stability, support our police and fire services, better involve our residents and businesses in government affairs, and restore our City's events as soon as we can after COVID-19 restrictions are lifted. Also, after speaking with many residents, I support restoring our motorcycle officer to combat speeding on our residential streets.

During my eight years on the City Council, we never raised taxes nor fees and, in most years, lowered the utility users tax. Four years ago, I helped lead efforts to pass Measure JJ, which was necessary to prevent deep cuts to City services, especially in our Police Department. Measure JJ revenues are supposed to provide financial stability for the foreseeable future. I pledge to ensure that the promise is kept by being frugal with our budget. Neither surpluses from Measure JJ nor good economic times should be regarded as a rational to frivolously spend.

Mailers by the City are successful; however, we may need to ask residents how they'd like to receive updates. If elected, I promise that every decision will be based on values of family, community, and safety to creatively bring in diverse services that: (1) encourage sustainable economic growth, (2) increase Council meeting attendance, (3) promote a recovery plan centering families, especially families hit hard by Covid-19, and (4) use the UN Sustainable Development Goal #11 to ensure La Palma thrives.

If elected, I promise that every decision will be based on values of family, community, and safety to creatively bring in diverse services that: (1) encourage sustainable economic growth, (2) increase Council meeting attendance, (3) promote a recovery plan centering families, especially families hit hard by Covid-19, and (4) use the UN Sustainable Development Goal #11 to ensure La Palma thrives.

As a community, especially as Council Member, we need to explore innovative investments to make our City more sustainable and diverse. That means strengthening our relationship with businesses and property owners, especially the ones who have been here for decades but also finding ways to bring in new business that is beneficial to La Palma. The Covid-19 pandemic presented a challenge to our community; however, with me as Council Member, we will be able to successfully get through it together. That is why it's imperative that each eligible voter vote in our local elections.
